Learning from the experience of others

- Networking
- Process & Pathway mapping
- Patients & Public involvement

Networking

Learning from the experience of others working in transition, project management and quality improvement

WHO?

- Inside and outside the organisation
- Burdett Trust, mentor, QI, peer support

WHY?

- Prevented me trying to reinvent the wheel
- Helped to maintain the focus
- Accept that there is no magic fix
- Thinking outside the box

Process and Pathway Mapping

Developing an understanding of current pathways and processes as experienced by Health Care professionals [HCP's].

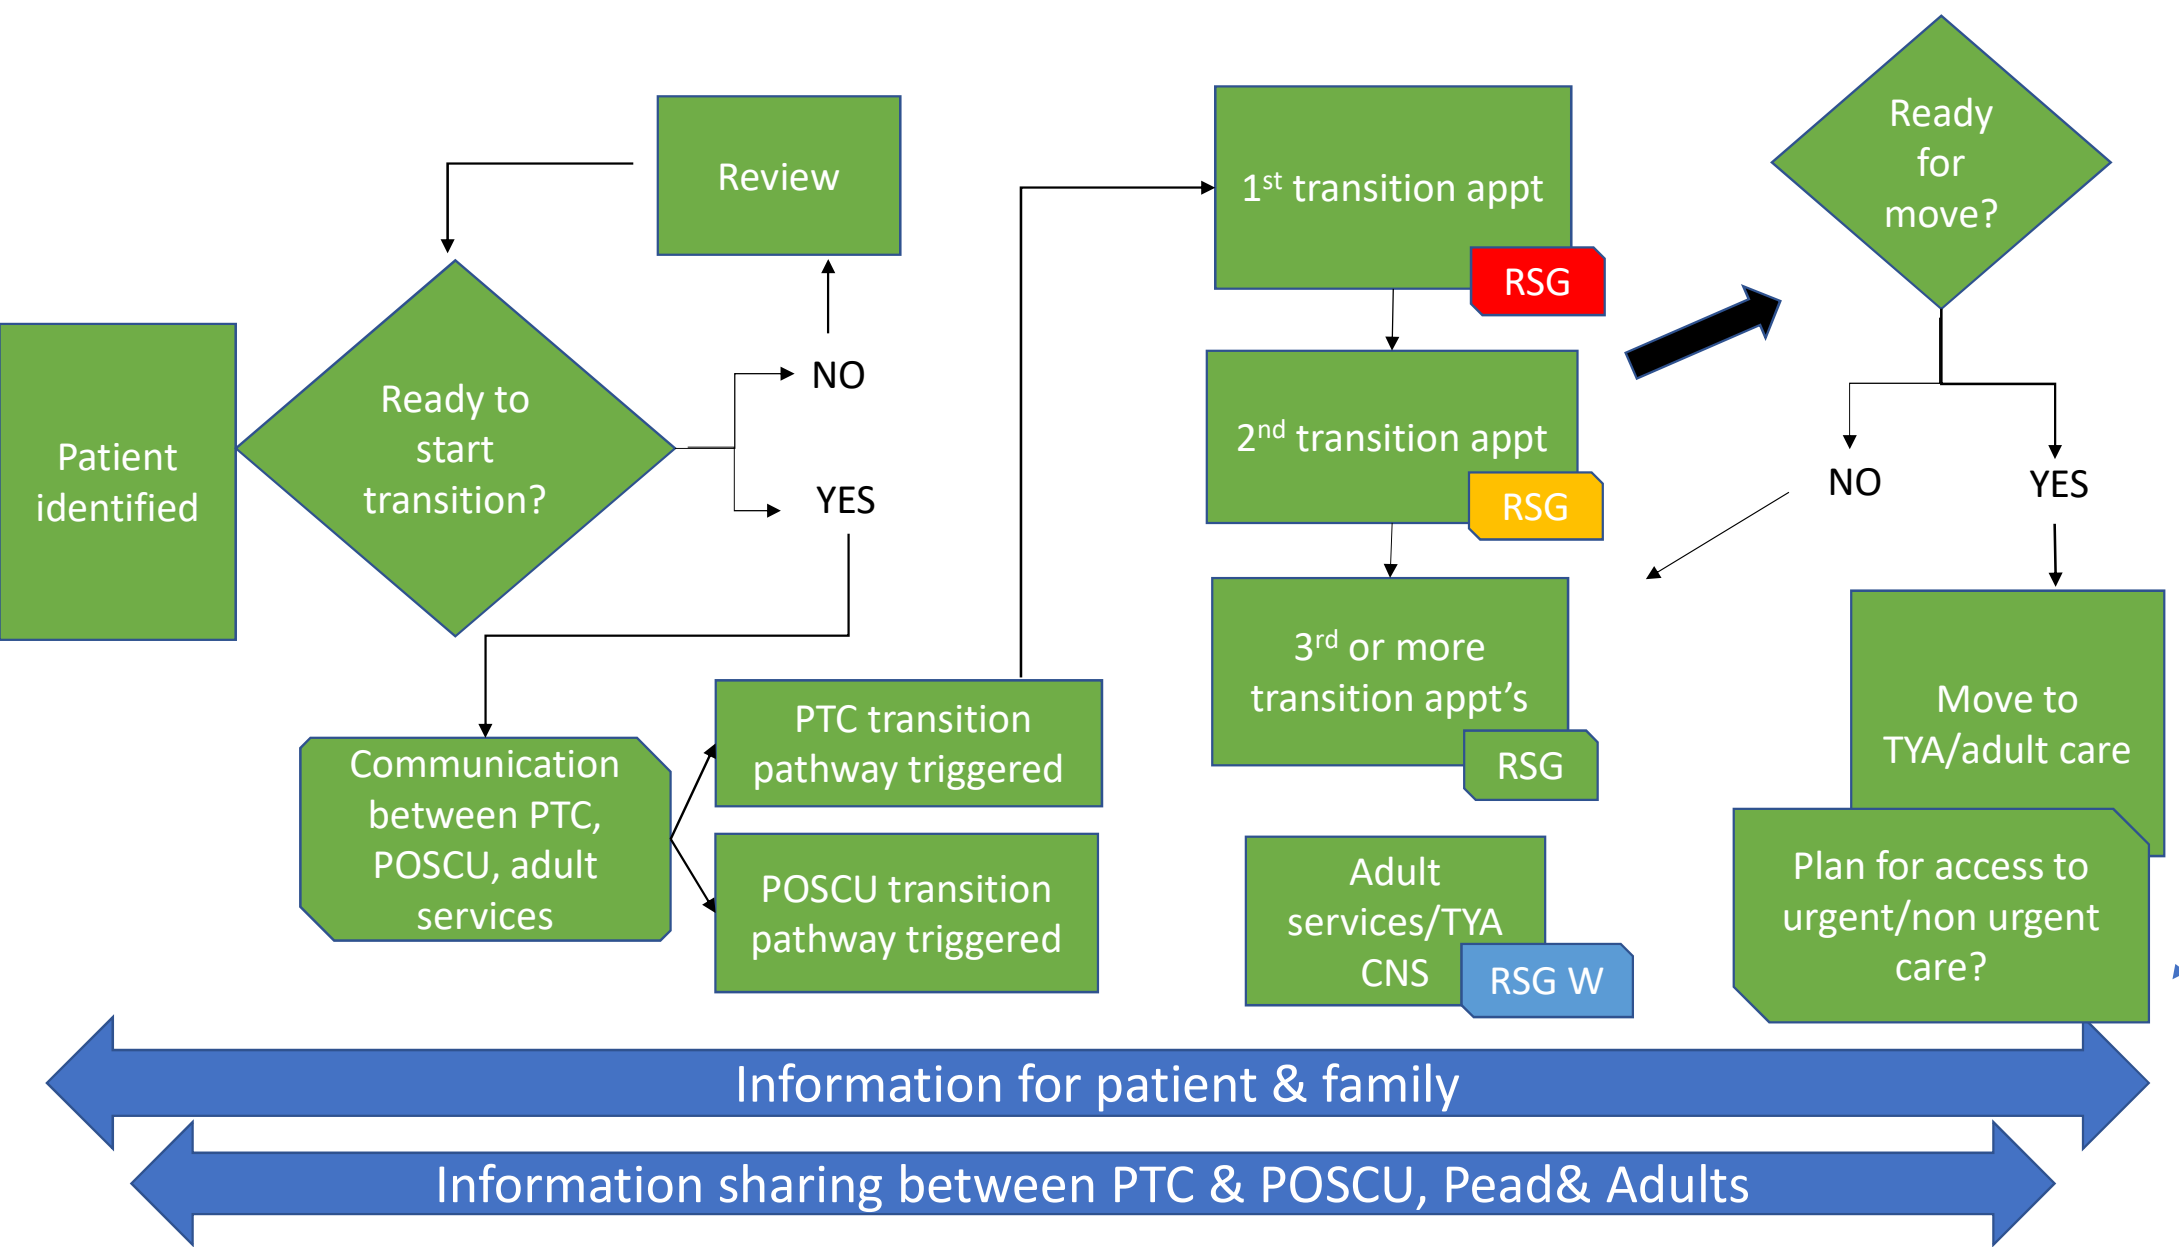

WHO?

- 9 pathway mapping workshops with 44 HCP's

WHY?

- Brought people into the same (virtual) room
- Build on the good stuff currently going on
- Highlighted areas of concern, uncertainty and HCP's priorities for change
- Identified HCP's who might engage and support the project

Patient & public Involvement

Developing an understanding of current pathways and processes as experienced by young people & their families.

WHO?

- 45 young people and family members
- 1:1 meetings, phone calls, focus groups

WHY?

- Highlighted what matters most to patients and where they think improvement efforts should be focused
- Provided opportunity: to tell their story, peer support, engage in the project
- The patient story: A strong force for triggering change.
